1. Introduction

This privacy notice explains how The Isle of Wight College (“the college”, “we”, “us”, “our”) collects, uses and shares your personal data, and your rights in respect of their personal data under EU Regulation 2016/679 General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”). Since 1 January 2021 the UK’s data privacy law is now known as UK GDPR.

The UK GDPR defines “personal data” as any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person (a “data subject”); an identifiable natural person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier, or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural, or social identity of that natural person.

This Notice sets the College’s obligations regarding the collection, processing, transfer, storage, and disposal of personal data.

The College is committed not only to the letter of the law, but also to the spirit of the law and places high importance on the correct, lawful, and fair handling of all personal data, respecting the legal rights, privacy, and trust of all individuals with whom it deals.

If you have questions regarding your personal data or its use, please contact the Data Protection Officer by email on info@iwcollege.ac.uk with subject ‘FAO Data Protection Officer’ or by post at The Data Protection Officer, The Isle of Wight College, Medina Way, Isle of Wight, PO30 5TA.

2. Types of personal data we process

We process personal data about prospective, current and past students. The personal data we process takes different forms – it may be factual information, expressions of opinion, images or other recorded information which identifies or relates to an individual. Examples include:

- names, addresses, telephone numbers, e-mail addresses and other contact details
- family details
- criminal convictions
- photos
- admissions, academic, disciplinary, attendance and other education related records, information about special educational needs, references, examination scripts and marks
- education and employment data
- financial information (e.g. for bursary assessment)
- bank details (e.g. when required for the processing of payments or refunds)
- courses, meetings or events attended.

As a college, we need to process special category personal data (e.g. concerning health, ethnicity, gender or biometric data) and criminal records information about some individuals (particularly students and staff). We do so in accordance with applicable law (including with respect to safeguarding or employment) or by explicit consent.

3. The lawful basis for obtaining and using your personal data

The Isle of Wight College needs data in order to fulfil its contractual obligations to its students to deliver the education for which they have applied and to participate fully in the services offered to students.

Generally, the information is processed as part of our public interest task of providing education to you.

Where that information is special category personal information (e.g. medical information or your photograph for the purposes of identification) we will process it in the interests of safeguarding and or because there is a substantial public interest for us to do so.

The legal bases for us to process your data are where:

- processing is necessary for the performance of a contract with the data subject or to take steps to enter into a contract
- Or, processing is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation
- Or, processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller.
- Or, processing is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by the controller or a third party.

4. Collecting, handling and sharing personal data

We collect most of the personal data we process directly from the individual concerned (or in the case of some students, from their parents/guardians). In some cases, we collect data from third parties (for example, referees, previous schools/colleges, the Disclosure and Barring Service, or professionals or authorities working with the individual) or from publicly available resources.

Personal data held by us is processed by appropriate members of staff for the purposes for which the data was provided. We take appropriate technical and organisational steps to ensure the security of personal data about individuals, including policies around use of technology and devices, and access to college systems. We do not transfer personal data outside of the European Economic Area.

Personal data (including sensitive data where required) is passed to Government agencies (including but not limited to the Education and Skills Funding Agency) to meet statutory or contractual funding arrangements. Where necessary it is also shared with the Department for Education (DfE) and the Student Loans Company.

The information is used for the exercise of functions of these Government departments and to meet statutory responsibilities, including under the Apprenticeships, Skills, Children and Learning Act 2009. The information you supply is used by the Education and Skills Funding Agency, an executive agency of the Department for Education (DfE), to issue you with a Unique Learner Number (ULN) and to create your Personal Learning Record, as part of the functions of the DfE. For more information about how your information is processed, and to access your Personal Learning Record, please refer to:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/lrs-privacy-notice>

In the course of college business, we share personal data (including special category personal data where appropriate) with third parties such as examination boards and relevant authorities (for example the Local Authority, DBS, UK Visas and Immigration, and Department for Education).

To fulfil our statutory and contractual obligations of education provision some of our systems are provided by external third parties, e.g. hosted student assessment, target, attendance and progression tracking systems, college portal or cloud storage providers. This is always subject to contractual assurances that personal data will be kept securely and only in accordance with our specific directions.

We will share your details with internal and external auditors when required to do so. As a publicly-funded organisation, we are subject to audit and required on occasion to give the auditors access to students' details in order for them to report on the integrity of the college's processes. The auditors will not normally retain personal data once an audit is complete.

We will provide a debt collection agency with personal contact details of any student who has significant outstanding debts to us where we have exhausted our own procedures for pursuing a debt.

We reserve the right to share data with a third party without express consent when it is necessary for protecting the vital interests of a data subject, for example in the case of an emergency.

We will never sell personal data to third parties.

5. Purposes for which we process personal data

8. Student data

The rights under Data Protection legislation belong to the individual to whom the data relates. Parents should be aware that we can only release information about its students if it has their consent for this recorded on the College system. There may be exceptions in regards of students with severe learning difficulties, school link students and those who are otherwise unable to decide for themselves.

In general, we will assume that students' consent is required for ordinary disclosure of their personal data to their parents/guardians/nominated individual, e.g. for the purposes of keeping parents informed about the student's activities, progress and behaviour, unless in the college's opinion of the interests in a student's welfare, there is a good reason to do otherwise.

Students over 18,¹ are asked for their consent for sharing information² (e.g. attendance) with parents/guardians/nominated individual on the application form or when enrolling face-to-face. Students can also inform us later on with whom we may discuss their college matters. Students may withdraw their consent the same way which they gave it.

Students can make subject access requests for their own personal data, provided that they have sufficient maturity to understand the request they are making. Our students are generally assumed to have this level of maturity. A person with parental responsibility will generally be entitled to make a subject access request on behalf of students, but the information in question is always considered to be the child's at law. A student of any age may ask a parent or other representative to make a subject access request on their behalf. Moreover (if of sufficient maturity) their consent or authority may need to be sought by the parent making such a request.

¹ Including Students aged over 16 who live independently; or in cases of mental capacity assessments, in the situations of: Appointeeship status/Guardianship status and certain sections of Power of Attorney, where evidence can be provided

If you believe that we have not complied with this policy or have acted otherwise than in accordance with Data Protection Law, you should notify the Data Protection Officer. You can also make a referral to or lodge a complaint with the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO), although the ICO recommends that steps are taken to resolve the matter with us before involving them.
